Abstract

GIS is everywhere; it is becoming the underlay of all established systems and applications. Domains such as ERP, CRM, and SCM admit the need for GIS to improve their system and fulfill the needs of their customers. Therefore GIS is even more essential for doing business. Business where competition is hard, response times are getting smaller and where there is no margin of error allowed. Data collection and analyses are most often the bottlenecks. Voice activation can solve these; it lowers the barrier in those two cases. How we will show in the presentation.
