Abstract

Several GIS associations have been developing a program for certifying GIS professionals through a standardized peer-review process. This is a response to market conditions and pressures from other mapping-related professions. The GIS certification program is voluntary and is intended to acknowledge the achievements of those whose primary responsibilities involve using, maintaining, and creating geospatial data or technology. The presentation explains the current status of the pilot program and solicits your comments.

Bruce Joffe
GIS Consultants
URISA Board Member
1615 Broadway, suite 415
Oakland, CA 94612
USA
Phone: 510-238-9771
E-mail: GIS.Consultants@joffes.com