Canada's Federal Elections (2000 to 2015)

A story map | esri Canada

2015 Federal Election Results:

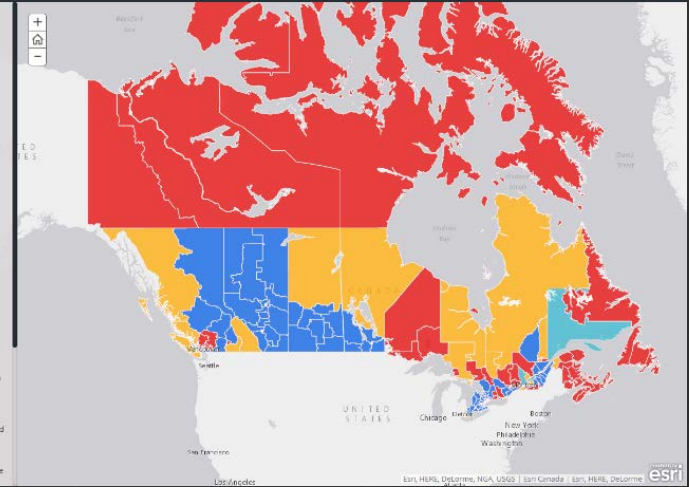

The 2015 Canadian federal election (formally the 42nd Canadian general election) was held on October 19, 2015 to elect members to the House of Commons of the 42nd Canadian Parliament.

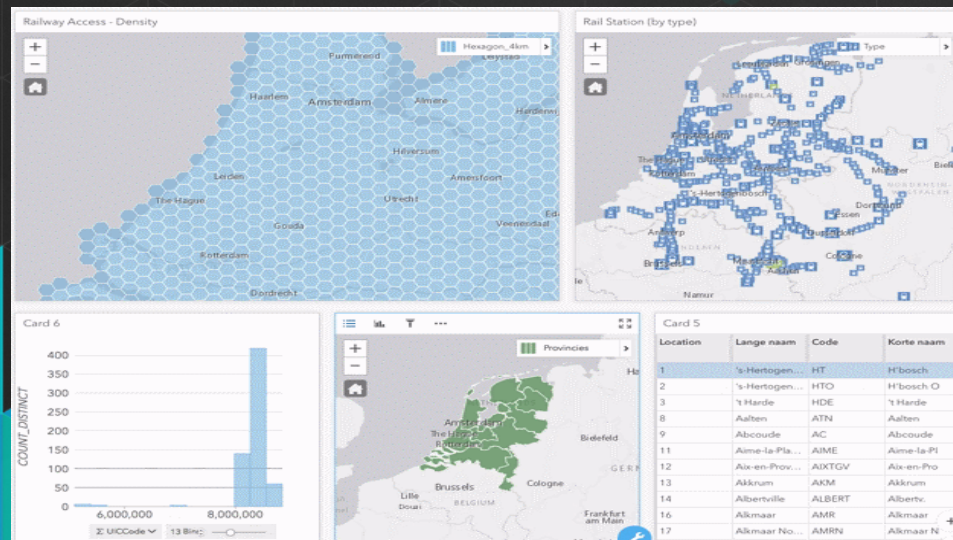

The writ of election for the 2015 election was issued by Governor General David Johnston on August 4. The ensuing campaign spanned 75 days from the dissolution of Parliament to the election, one of the longest campaigns in Canadian history.

The Liberal Party led by Justin Trudeau won 184 seats, allowing them to form a majority government with Trudeau becoming the Prime Minister designate of Canada. The Conservative Party led by incumbent Prime Minister Stephen Harper won 103 seats, becoming the Official Opposition after nine years in Government. The New Democratic Party led by Thomas Mulcair won 44 seats, becoming the third largest party in the House of Commons after having formed the Official Opposition following the 2011 election. The Green Party won 11 seats; Bloc Québécois won 10 seats and the Green Party won 1 seat.

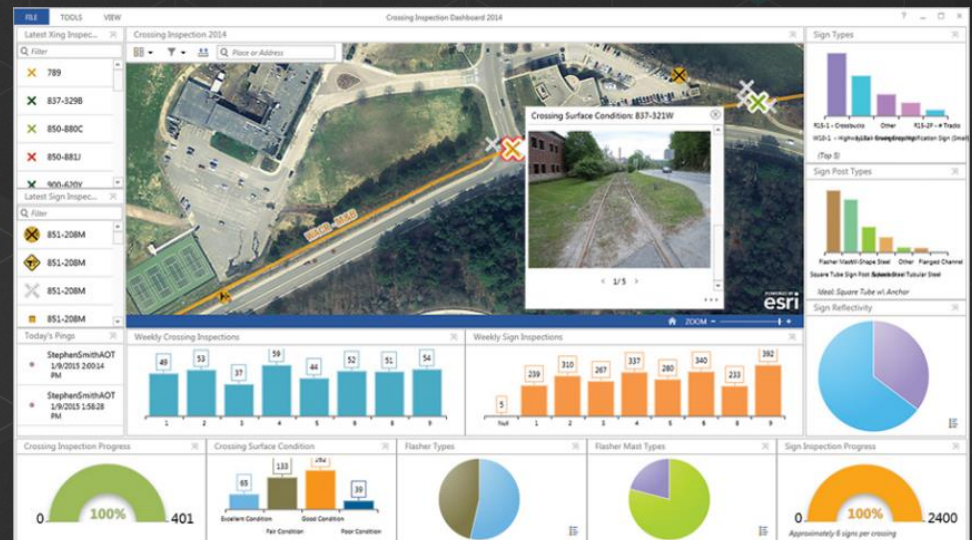

The Liberal Party's increase of 140 seats from the previous election came at the expense of 60 seats from the Conservative Party and 51 seats from the Bloc
