Mecklenburg County Archives History on the Web

Track: State and Local Government

Author(s): Chaula Jain

Mecklenburg County, North Carolina has developed a website which serves as an archive for Historic Maps and aerial photography. The website is being developed using ArcIMS. Presently, the site developed with ASP and HTML hosts historic maps which are a part of the archival collection at the Public Library of Charlotte and Mecklenburg County. The maps are displayed in MR SID or JPEG format. The user can search by keyword or date and relevant data is displayed. The site is soon going to add historical orthophotography overlaid with parcels, which lets a user study changes in land use over the last decade.
